Confidentiality of Information

The President or his designees shall be responsible for developing procedures to insure the confidentiality of all information as required by Federal, State or local laws. The procedures shall specifically identify the type of information, and the restrictions to access.